LOCAL WHOLESALE TRADE

ONE OF THE BEST WEEKS EVER KNOWN IN LOCAL MARKETS.

Prices Steady and Firm, and Profits Good-Cereals Are Showing a Somewhat Stronger Tone.

With the increased trade, due to the Indiana State fair, and the regular business, seldom do the merchants of this city enjoy a better week's business than in the one ended Sept. 20, all lines of trade sharthe good results, and with this prices have ruled strong in all lines, and in lines such as dry goods, where profits are close, the volume of trade was so large as to yield a good net revenue. The boot business had a big week, as did the confectioners. The wholesale grocers did a good business, but not so marked in increase as the other lines, as the retail merchants keep in close touch with trade in their line, buying to only meet immediate requirements. On Commission row the trade of the week was the largest of any week for some months, and prices of fruits and vegetables improved, but are still very low. Seldom have so many articles in this line of trade sold as low month past. Some very fine apples and peaches are on the marketthe best ever offered, say the commission men. The produce market continues at a high range, so far as prices are concerned, and there are no indications of an early decline. Hog products as well are selling at high figures for this market, and it is said further advances are probable. All lines of trade are active and prices have been practically unchanged for some days.

Indianapolis Grain Market. The local grain market shows more activity. Inspections yesterday were 47 cars, and bids as reported by the secretary of the Board of Trade ruled as follows: Wheat firm; No. 2 red, 69c track; No. 2 red, 69e on milling freight; No. 3 red, 65@67c

DEMAND FOR EXPERTS.

In Some Lines of Work Skilled Persons Are Not to Be Had.

Boston Transcript. A thoughtful writer has reviewed in a current educational journal the newer callings into which men and women of culture and character have been pushing of late. When all the well-known professions and avenues of work are so crowded that the competition for positions has become tremendous it is a relief to know that an expansion is constantly taking place, opening new forms of service to the skilled and competent. There exist certain fields, the writer declares, in which at the present time it is impossible to obtain enough trained persons for the positions offered. Foremost of these is the teaching of special branches in the higher educational institutions, a demand which is constantly increasing and broadening. The new agriculture, forestry, the experiment stations, and laboratories have created a demand for a considerable number of specially trained teachers as agriculturists, horticulturists, pomologists, entomologists, dairy experts. biologists, plant pathologists, bacteriologists, etc. In every large city there is some demand, it is stated, for expert chemists, geologists, prospectors, microscopists, etc. The work along these lines is now mainly done by college professors, but a few persons have already opened private offices with success. Chemists are needed in hundreds of manufacturing establishments. An inviting field for expert mathematicians is found in the coast and geological surveys of the national government and in the offices of the great life insurance companies. where they serve as actuaries. It is pointed out that the United States Weather Bureau also employs a considerable number of trained men. The demand for competent lecturers in university extension, in teachers' institutes and farmers' institutes, for popular instruction in science, literature, history and economy has never yet been filled. The position of health officer in city and State is a recognized post of responsibility, requiring great knowledge and power on the part of the incumbent. As librarians, statesmen, journalists, diplomats in railroad work, in commerce, in religious and reform work, it is well known that the college-bred men and women are fulfilling their prerogatives in posts of great usefulness and power. The summary is significant and seems to show conclusively that the expansion of professional occupation

Chicago Chronicle. Prof. Earl Barnes, one of the foremost authorities on matters relating to child study, in his lecture before the Cook county school teachers, advocated more men as teachers in the primary schools. It has been thought that women were pre-eminently fitted by nature to care for children up to the age of twelve years. At normal schools the number of women students preparing to teach compared with the number of men is sixteen to one. One reason for this disproportion has been that men with or without experience and without normal training were allowed to become principals of elementary schools.

positions. It is too early to decide from actual experjence the comparative merits of men and women as teachers of small children, but Professor Barnes has given years of attention to the best methods of instructing young minds, and his testimony deserves although women were the real instructors.

In recent years men have been required to to carry great weight. It it shall be proved that men and women are equally well fitted for teaching in the grades, it may also be found that they are equally well fitted as instructors in the higher departments. The number of women instructors in colleges and universities has been small, but it is constantly increasing. Before long there should be sufficient data to indicate the value of women in the higher institutions of learning.

It may be found that "segregation" is no more desirable in the university than it is in the primary school.

CATTLE QUIET AND WITHOUT IM-PORTANT CHANGE IN PRICES.

Hogs Quiet and 15 to 20 Cents Lower-Sheep Firm and Steady-Condition of Markets Elsewhere.

UNION STOCKYARDS, INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.-Cattle-Receipts, 100; shipments, 100. The receipts of cattle this week have been com paratively liberal, showing an increase of nearly 500 over last week and 600 over the same week a year ago. The receipts thus far this year are a little over 14,000 larger than the same period last year. The market this week, from the seller's point of view, has been about as unsatisfactory as it is possible for it to be, but at the same time this condition was not altogether the fault of the buyers or of the market. From the beginning of the week there was a liberal run of stock on the feeder order, and with a very moderate request for that class of cattle the pens were soon filled to overflowing. At the start sellers, in anticipation of a liberal demand this week, were not inclined to reduce prices, and the result was a very slow trade and a limited out-Later in the week, however, they made some concessions, which found an outlet for a greater number, but the demand at no time was equal to the supply, and hundreds of cattle had to be carried over unsold. The demand for fat stock was only fair, but generally equal to the supply, and very little change was made in prices of the thick, fat kinds during the week. A good kind of butcher cattle, however, were sold usually 10c to 15c lower at the close of the week than the opening, and medium grades were around 25c lower. There was a total absence of prime export steers, and no telling how high that class would have sold, but buyers did not seem to want anything above $7, and that was the highest paid. Heifers sold as high as $4.75, and a few fancy cows got up to the $6 mark. There were very few steers here good enough to sell above $6.50. Most of the stockers and feeders sold at $4@4.75, and female stock sold generally below $4. The receipts to-day were small, but quite a number had been carried over from yesterday, and the supply on sale was large for Saturday. The demand was [67.50; butchers', $7.50@7.80. 270 Hogs-Receipts, 2,500; shipments, 500. The marketing of hogs this week shows an increase of over 2,000 over last week and a decrease of nearly 1,500 compared with the same week a year ago and no change compared with the corresponding time two years ago. Thus far this year the receipts are 161,500 smaller than for the same period last year. For the week ending yesterday the leading local packers bought a total of 10,031, against 6,187 the preceding week and 12,337 the same week a year ago. During the same period the shipments were 4,670, against 8,069 the preceding week and 5,582 the corresponding week a year ago. The conditions in the hog market this week have been much the same as those existing for the two weeks preceding. The position of prices has been governed to a great extent by the demand outside sources, and whenever competition shippers was strong values were benefited. Packers continue on the bear side of the question, but it must be admitted that on one or two days they were very liberal. The week opened with a slight advance, but this was soon lost, and on Wednesday prices were about 10c under the close of last week. There was rather a strong market from that time until the extreme close of the week, when there was another reaction, and at that time the average was about 25c lower than the high time in the week, which was Monday. When shippers were out of the market heavy hogs suffered most because packers did not want them. The quality of hogs this week has been very good and the receipts of choice heavy grades continue above normal for this time in the year. The receipts to-day were about twice as large as a week ago and a little improvement over a year ago. The market opened with very little inquiry from outside sources, and with packers indifferent it was very difficult to get bids at the start, but finally ouvers were offering very much lower prices Salesmen were reluteant in granting concessions asked, but later were forced to accept was generally considered 15c to 20c lower than yesterday. Thus far this year the receipts are 6,600 smaller than the same period last year. The receipts all week have been just about large enough to accommodate local butchers. therefore, there was no urgent competition tween buyers and no occasion for any decided change in prices. For the most part, however, the tendency was stronger and occasionally an advance of 25c was secured. The highest prices paid this week were $4.75 for lambs and $3.50 for The receipts to-day were as large as usual at this time in the week, and, with a steady demand, all sold on a basis of yesterday's prices. It has been the same old, old story in the cattle market during the past week. Good to choice cattle, fat and of good quality have been quoted steady, but the trouble comes with the fact that nothing of this kind is being received at the local market. 20. - Manipulation, CHICAGO, Sept. abetted by rains, worked for advances in grains to-day. Regardless of injunctions against corners and fictitious prices, the shorts in September wheat became frightened and put the price up on themselves. Other commodities felt the influence of a heavy wheat demand and in sympathy advanced. Higher prices were attractive to some holders and there were recessions from top figures, but in the end the close was strong, with September wheat 14c higher, December 1/2c up, September corn 4c up, December 4c higher, September oats %c higher and December unchanged. Provisions closed 21/2c to 40c higher.

In contrast with recent business in wheat the opening showed strength about which there was no doubt. Whereas advances of bulls, $1.50@4; calves, $2@5.50. Receipts for the late have been halting, to-day the sentiment was strongly bullish from the start. The cash market in the Northwest was advancing, with Duluth offering 1/2c a bu to cancel shipments. Eleveator stocks everywhere were small, there was a premium for cash grain and an excellent export business was developing. Added to this were the rains Northwest and predictions of more to follow to retard the spring movement that has only just got under way. Offerings were scarce and small purchases had a telling effect on prices. The amount of breadstuffs on passage Monday was expecetd to be decreased, although shipments were fairly bearish and cables were easy until local bullish news improved them. Shorts were frightened into covering September heavily in the opening half hour. Six commission houses jointly took in 2,000,000 bu. New York was taking September freely. Grading was poor. Business was broad and active all the session, but some stuff came out at top prices. September opened unchanged to %c up, at 73%c to 74%c, jumped to 75%c, slipped back to 75c and closed strong, 1%c higher, at 75%c. December trade was largely sympathetic, the price opening 1/8c to 1/4c up, at 691/4c to 693/8c, advancing to 69%c and closing firm, 1/2c higher, at 69%c. Local receipts were 200 cars, only five of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 925 cars, a total of 1,125 cars, against 962 cars last week and 1,422 last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 474,000 bu. Primary receipts were 1,387,000 bu, compared with 1,116,000 bu last year. Corn trade was active only in a measure. Rains which would retard movement acted bullishly on the market, as did the bull
